WHITE NOT YOUR CUP OF TEA? STAGE YOUR HOME IN GRAY INSTEAD!

THE POWER OF GRAY IN STAGING

Gray is a subtle color that can bring sophistication to interiors while also the neutrality that home buyer crave. "It's the hot new neutral, a sleek and sophisticated color option that adds refinement to almost any room," says Debbie Zimmer, a paint and color expert with the Paint Quality Institute. "Walls that are painted gray are great backdrops for almost any style of décor, and gray is such a dignified color that it can elevate the appearance of even the most modest furnishings." Zimmer says that gray can be a great color choice for embellishments throughout interiors, such as a gray wash on wood furniture or the fabric in seating. In her 2014 color forecast, she expects grey to be used more in homes. "We will even see gray's flashier cousin, silver, used as an important accent color," says Zimmer. Zimmer also predicts "white" to stage a comeback in 2014, with white and off-white back in vogue. "As with gray, the ease of coordinating furnishings with a neutral hue like white is appealing to almost everyone," she says. "Those who are downsizing will favor white or very light-colored walls to make their new, smaller interiors look more spacious; and for those who may soon put up a 'For Sale' sign, white is the wise paint color to apply before listing a home."

C’est Magnifique!

A glittering soirée on New York’s fashionable Madison Avenue is where nearly 700 invited guests walked the red carpet to help home-furnishings icon Roche Bobois celebrate 40 years in America!

In mid-century Paris, along the Rue de Lyon, Jacques Roche purchased the old Alexandre Dumas Theater from which he and his sons, Philippe and François, distributed the finest in contemporary furniture of the times. A decade later in the 1960s, Roche joined forces with Patrick and Jean-Claude Chouchan, who shared the Roches’ passion for the sleek look of Scandinavian design. Together, the visionaries became Roche Bobois, revolutionizing the contemporary age.

In 1974, as the first furniture manufacturer in the world to franchise, with showrooms around the globe, it was time for Roche Bobois to come to America. They did just that, on the corner of Madison Avenue and East 35th Street. The rest is history; a 40-year history, to be exact. In honor of their anniversary, Roche Bobois rolled out the red carpet at their landmark U.S. showroom for a celebration that bespoke the excitement and sophistication of Manhattan’s social agenda. Live jazz played, champagne flowed and cameras flashed as a who’s who in magazine publishing and interior design mingled with a cavalcade of Roche Bobois’ consumers who possess a real joie de vivre.

During the press reception and tour earlier in the day, Wendy Goodman, design editor for New York Magazine and Departures said, “Roche Bobois is a beautiful garden of creativity. There are new ideas in bloom every time you walk in.” At the same time, DJ Carey, editor in chief of New Cottages and Gardens, including their Hamptons, New York and San Francisco editions noted, “The showroom and designs are young, happening, fresh. Everything takes an ‘artistic’ point of view.” As guests strolled down a glass-lined staircase to the lower-level showroom, jazz segued into 1970s rock and disco, replete with a nightclub DJ, mirror balls and strobe lights. The evening was truly a tour through different times and design periods. To further commemorate their American anniversary, Roche Bobois used this special occasion to unveil their first pieces created by an American designer since Vladimir Kagan in 2000.

Looking more like a museum of contemporary art than a retail space, the showroom showcased a custom vignette featuring “The Traveler: An American Chair” by Steven Burks. The stunning designs are imbued with influences from many ports of call, highlighting the “craft” of furniture making. “With this line, you can see exactly how the pieces were made. We have a lot to learn about enhancing the ‘craft’ facet of furniture design. Every element of the chairs and the methods of construction are visible,” Burks explained. “The design references might be Asian, others might see African or Caribbean influences. My designs allow the user to ‘travel to their own place’ because the references are so subtle and varied.

“The Traveler is architectural in nature, with interesting shapes and angles. For example, there’s a space at the back of the chair that could function as a shelf of sorts; a place for one’s favorite book or an afghan,” Burks concluded.

Throughout the multi-level showroom, with soaring, three-story ceilings on the street level, guests were transfixed on the sheer number of vignettes with exclusive Roche Bobois collections. Among those getting rave reviews is the Mah Jong Collection, innovative modular sofas that take on all shapes and sizes with an explosion of colors and patterns. Also used throughout the showroom are custom fabrics designed exclusively for Roche Bobois by acclaimed couturier Jean Paul Gaultier.

Jetting in from Paris adding even more panaché to the evening were company CEO Gilles Bonan, creative director and founding-family member Nicolas Roche and Martin Gleize, designer and director of international development. Bonan stated, “Creativity and diversity are two of the cornerstones of our success around the world. To that we add value, superior quality and a commitment to providing the utmost in custom services and design. Whatever the client wants, anything is possible. However, at the top of the list are the collaborative efforts of everyone involved in the process. When we talk about the Roche Bobois ‘family,’ it’s not about surnames, it’s about the dedication and passion everyone in our organization shares.”

Bonan also noted that the company does not contract out the manufacturing to other countries such as Japan or China. Everything is made at their factories in France and Italy, not only to add to the local economies but also to maintain personal, hands-on, quality control. Nicolas Roche added, “Roche Bobois is the only company of its kind that introduces two brand new collections of furniture, lighting and accessories each year, Les Contemporains and Nouveaux Classiques. Les Contemporains embodies the essence of its name - highly stylized, modern and sleek. Nouveaux Classiques takes the charm and intricacies of ‘old-world’ design then adds unexpected twists with very contemporary fabrics, colors and finishes. It’s the best of both worlds, blending very well with even the most traditional interiors.”

There’s another reason why Roche Bobois is the largest and most successful furniture designer and distributor in the world. Martin Gleize explained, “While many homes in the United States are designed with expansive, open spaces, most residences in other countries with densely populated, urban environments tend to be taller, with smaller rooms. We are very aware of this when designing the scale of our furniture, which is why we have such an impressive presence with over 250 showrooms worldwide.”

THE EVENT WAS ALSO USED TO INTRODUCE “THE TRAVELER: AN AMERICAN CHAIR” BY STEVEN BURKS, THE FIRST AMERICAN DESIGNER SINCE VLADIMIR KAGAN IN 2000 TO DESIGN FOR ROCHE BOBOIS.

Communications Director U.S. Julien Bigan summed up the evening, “This spectacular celebration exuded the excitement and passion we feel for our company. Our constant search for design innovation and excellence is equaled only by our commitment to our customers, the interior design industry and the Roche Bobois brand around the world.” If one were asked to describe the total experience the evening offered, it would take only four words – Roche Bobois, C’est Magnifique!

PHOTOGRAPHY Daniel Newcomb

The kitchen was a very important space in this renovation. It has now doubled in size from the original plans which created more functional task-working space. The espresso finished raised panel cabinets created a beautiful contrast with the onyx counter tops and mother of pearl backspash. Polished Chrome 8" pulls were used that added a nice contemporary element to the design. As you can see, the counter space is designed at one level to enjoy a meal at counter height vs bar height. Another requirement that needed to be filled was to have a functional island large enough to store dishes as well as non perishable foods. In this island all the drawers and doors are soft closing with pull outs. Fine Art lighting was used in this space to keep a warm toned feel to the kitchen.

Sherri has been designing for 10 years throughout South Florida from Palm Beach to Brickell avenue, Miami. Her specialty is high-end residential projects including private homes in gated communities such as Admirals Cove, Harbour Beach, Hawk's Landing, and many more. "My goal as a designer is to create a look for my clients that is unique and special and always incorporate their needs, requests and personality into every project," says Goode.

A Passion for Contemporary Design and Art

INTERIOR DESIGN

Toby Zack

Fort Lauderdale, FL

PHOTOGRAPHY

Dan Forer, Miami, FL.

The contemporary designs of Toby Zack and the owner's vibrant art connection created a posh spirit to the home in Royal Palm Beach County Club, Boca Raton, Florida.

The couple lived for many years in a luxury ocean front condo. After deciding to move to a home, they knew exactly what they wanted. Their dream house had to be on one level, 3500 to 4000 sq. ft., four bedrooms, and an open floor plan and needed to have big windows to create light and brightness. Built in 1995 is one of Boca Raton's finest neighborhoods. This house fit all the desired criteria's.

The couple hired Toby Zack Designs, long considered the best for contemporary design in South Florida to create a sophisticated interior, design the patio area and changes to the front entry to achieve this goal.

- CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE -

The owner says she loves the house more than ever and is excited every time she walks in.

Zack, working with her design team of Carolina Velasquez and Jose Arango Toby selected and created pieces that resulted in a contemporary, one of a kind home much as she has done for years in Florida, Canada and South America.

The home was renovated from top to bottom starting with a new roof, impact glass windows, fresh landscaping, travertine tiles and a new summer kitchen for the patio.

The interior was treated by removing the faux fireplace, sanding and sealing the original travertine floors. Quartz replaced granite in the kitchen and the master bath was completely redone. The owner says she loves the house more than ever and is excited every time she walks in.

Toby designed a fabulous living room scene with a custom made A. Rudin white sofa and four wood framed chairs all covered in high quality Sunbrella fabric. The homeowner says “Everywhere you sit is extremely comfortable” I chose Sunbrella so we did not have to worry the dogs, grandchildren and even a red wine spill.

The art is featured prominently in this room and throughout the house. The oil canvas “Gigi” by artist Nguream is a living room focal point for its size and vibrant colors. Other artwork includes a figurative sculpture by Lawrence Feir and a Pion Sigaretto glass sculpture purchased at Murano in Venice by the couple. The small table of ebonized Asti with bronze legs is by Antoine Provix from J. Batachel.

(above) The homeowner likes to entertain Toby understood the design of this space was a priority. Toby chose a striking fixture to hang from the sixteen foot ceilings while sheer draperies softly filter daylight through the large window, Toby chose a square textured black oak dining table from Abitari which is offset with white Pellizzoni leather Chairs from the Toby Collection. The table can seat eight.

The wall space was designed to maximize the space, a low white custom buffet replace two bulky display cabinets. The art chosen was the clean pared down look of “8” a large still life by Begian artist Rene Chavelle. On the other wall hangs “Sublime” an oil painting by Buddhi.

(Below) Toby transformed the original into a contemporary designed show stopper. The tub was moved from the window alcove to a free standing location with Dornbracht faucets. Chrome, offsetting square sinks, quartz countertops and mirrored wall created a feminine feel. The walled shower, smart toilet and a duvet create a spa atmosphere. An African Ashanti stool from The Toby Collection gives some contrast. The Kartell chair in black and white in which the owner likes the hearts in the fabric design.

The comfortable, custom designed master bedroom suite features custom made furniture from The Toby Collection. Dark, fine grain oak bedside tables feature Swarovski crystal knobs. The bedside tables have brushed metal lamps with simple white shades. The dark ash hardwood floors show the paler shades of the Pratesi duvet, headboard and bench in champagne colored silk. The linen armchair and ottoman are from The Toby Collection. The artwork is “Earth and Sky” from Miguel Reyes and “Woman in Pearls” by Ngurafi.
