A FT. LAUDERDALE PENTHOUSE
DESIGN INSPIRED BY THE OCEAN.

INTERIOR DESIGN Kenneth Crawford Interiors,
2018 Fletcher Street, Hollywood, Florida. 33020
Studio 954.929.3696
PHOTOGRAPHY IBI Designs

The luxurious living area was designed to incorporate my clients entertaining needs. A custom bar and seating for an informal group of closest friends was key and accomplished by various custom design pieces of upholstered pieces. Sliding full height sliding doors allows the space to flow onto the terrace for those cool nights or beautiful winter days. Touches of non-traditional oceanic influences can be seen throughout the room in the form of lighting and art.

- CONTINUED ON NEXT PAGE -

The living area has various focal points. First, the curved custom Brazilian Cherry bar with its Absolute Black Granite and floating glass top is a dream for my clients. A small soffit emulates the radius of the bar and glass cube pendants, adding to the architecture of the space.

The cube form is picked up with the open backs of the custom copper color suede bar stools. The end of the bar houses the client's own piece of art. She said it reminds her of walking on the beach and collecting shells for her new home.

The main sitting area is composed of various upholstered pieces ranging from a custom sofa with custom leather. Deco-influenced chairs with Santos Mahogany arms and upholstered in copper suede to two occasional armless chairs in a darker copper fabric and a wool rug from New Zealand anchors the space beautifully. A sculptured sea urchin-influenced floor lamp sits in the corner and metallic copper sheers soften the windows without obstructing the ocean views.

Architectural recessed lights with Murano hand blown glass trims creates a star effect on the ceiling at night to resemble the long walks on the beach that my clients enjoy.

My clients wanted a unique and modern kitchen to enjoy their breakfast and small family meals. Custom 36" x 36" Absolute black granite slab tiles cover the floor and is finished with a special coating to resemble glass. Small custom hand blown seaglass inserts could be found peppering the floor with color picked up for the wall paint. Brazilian Cherry cabinets, stainless steel appliances, hardware and wine cooler would be any chef's dream kitchen. To maintain the sleek appearance, "I installed the Absolute black granite not only for the counter top but also for the backsplash to carry the theme. I tend to shy away from trendy tiles because they may be in presently but will go out just the same," says Crawford.

A custom table made out of Iroko wood was flown in from Africa as a sculpture piece for the room. Four custom tufted chairs upholstered in cream color suede and soft green welting surround the table. A bubble like murano glass chandelier was selected to resemble the spray mist of the ocean waves. Custom-designed mono-rail lighting was placed to not for its function but to highlight the cabinetry.

The media area is located behind the living area. A custom Brazilian cherry built-in houses not only a large LCD television and storage for its components but is hidden within the soffit of the piece. The TV features a remote control full screen that is lowered for the Sunday and Monday night football games. (Not seen is a projector located in a soffit over the sectional) Custom 1/2" thick glass shelves float off the built-in to store precious items. A faux zebra rug lays on the limestone floor and anchors the custom cream color leather sectional and ottoman coffee table. A New Zealand lamb's wool pillow adorn the sectional. Custom mono-rail lighting system is located over the sectional as well as a minimalistic glass floor lamp on the side of the sectional for additional light. Copper metallic sheers carry over from the Living area.

My clients wanted a working office for each of them. First, the limestone floors continued into this space to keep the unit flowing from one area to the next. A custom office built out of American Cherry was designed with plenty of hidden filing space as well as lower and upper storage to fit all their needs. The way the desk was designed allowed for both to have their designated areas and plenty of space between, so not to interfere with each other. Black leather and chrome desk chairs added to the modernism of the space as well as a reproduction of the famous "Egg" chair finished in orange leather. A custom mono-rail lighting system was also added as well as under cabinet lighting to give enough task lighting for my clients. The clients' own art of a blue jelly fish brings the ocean into the space and is a wonderful conversation piece.

The master bedroom suite was designed as a retreat for my guests. A bed from Swaim was covered in a tiffany blue-colored fabric and the bed frame was finished in an ebony wood stain. Chocolate suede accent pillows adorn the bed and a custom white linen duvet comforter was filled to feel as though you were floating on a cloud within this stunning bedroom. A chocolate brown accent painted wall was the focal point for the bed, and a custom designed remote control pop-up unit at the foot of the bed housed the TV.

The sitting area has two down-filled occasional chairs covered in the same Tiffany blue color, but in suede. A petite accent table allows for a resting place for a cup of morning coffee. A crystal pendant like a Tiffany ring allows for a little glam in the master. White sheers frame the windows and matched the rich pile white wool carpet.

An earthy green fabric was selected for the upholstered walls to mimic sea weed and allow the room to be quiet and peaceful. A soft cream color leather was placed on the custom bed surround to pull from the wool cream carpet which resembles sand. The same leather can be found on the custom bench located under the TV and a throw is found on the bench for those chilly winter nights. Simplistic nightstand and dresser are finished in an ebony stain and is adorned by mercury hand blown glass lamps with silk shades from Italy. Cream color side panels soften the windows, which is a western exposure. The clients' own Budda sits on top of the dresser to welcome guests into this peaceful space.

The terrace was designed with a minimalist feel by using architectural styled furniture pieces, which kept the design flowing onto the grand terrace. A custom wicker sectional from India was selected for its shape and durability. Simple color seat and back cushions were selected so not to compete with the gorgeous view. A dining area off to the right houses up to ten guests comfortably. Potted tropical trees pepper the space. From this terrace, one has breathtaking views north as well as south of Fort Lauderdale Beach. This corner penthouse wraps around to the northwest so one could enjoy not only the stunning sunrises, but breathtaking sunsets.
